About My Company....

I started making natural bath & Body care products for fun several years ago and found it to be a wonderful creative outlet. I decided after the prompting of friends and family to try selling my creations. I am crazy about creating top quality products inspired by nature at reasonable prices. Natural salts, oils, waxes go into my creations- no petroleum products ever. My 98 to 100% natural products are generally made to order so you can usually expect them to be ready about a week after ordering.

Coming up with a name that really expressed the essence of my company and my products was challenging. One day, I was going through some poetry I had written and I found a writing exercise in which I had paired colors with feelings. The phrase "Lime Giddy" leaped off the page and I knew I had my name. It is a perfect description of how I feel when making these products. I hope you find the same kind of pleasure in using them!

The perfect first step after a sunburn. Putting lotion on a sunburn right after it happens keeps the heat trapped in. That can make the redness last longer and make you peel worse. This spray keeps skin moist, helping to alleviate the dry, tight feel that often accompanies a burn. It also lets skin breathe and cools the burn.
